Report Russian Troops Almost Within Sight Of Kiev

Climax In Kiev Battle Appears To Be Nearing

German Desna River Defense Line Is Completely Destroyed

REPORT REDS IN SIGHT OF KIEV

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
MOSCOW, Sept. 22.—A climax in the battle for Kiev appeared near today after complete destruction by Russian troops of the German Desna river defense line.

(A British radio broadcast recorded today by CBS in New York said Russian forces advancing in a frontal attack on Kiev "are already able to see the golden domes on the churches of Kiev in the bright sunshine.")

Desna Defense Collapses

Russian seizure of Chernigov, 78 miles northeast of the Ukraine capital and within 29 miles of the Dniester, marked the final collapse of the Germans' Desna defenses. This victory was accompanied by sweeping Soviet gains all along the 900-mile Russian front during the last 24 hours. The midnight communique announced liberation of 1,140 more towns and villages and the slaying of at least 6,000 Germans in the day's bitter fighting.

Reports to London from Madrid quoted a Berlin correspondent as saying German army administrative offices already have been removed from Kiev and that the Germans may soon completely withdraw from that city and from Smolensk and Dnepropetrovsk as well. The fact that the correspondent's dispatch was passed by German censors was considered significant.

Furious Three-Day Battle

In a special announcement of the Chernigov victory, Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin described that key railroad bastion as "the most important keypoint of the German

Continued dry weather in Lawrence County has resulted in most of the streams being at a rather low stage.

Work is still in progress on the rebuilding of the flooring of the South Mill street bridge, with the consequent necessity of detouring around the bridge.

Thousands Fail Gen. MacArthur To Buy Bonds Yet Gives Statement

Individuals In County Far Behind Record Of Second War Loan

MILLION NEEDED TO REACH QUOTA

Upon the face of the returns today for the Third War Loan campaign, Lawrence County looks to be in good shape. The total sales thus far are $5,336,142.43 in a quota of $6,307,000. It looks good, looks as though it called for cheers. Actually the record is a miserable one. For the breakdown of the detail of the campaign shows that Lawrence County (with two exceptions) is falling down woefully and tragically in the campaign.

The total of $5,336,142.43 includes many large corporate purchases. As an example, New Castle's purchases today total $2,871,785.90 out of a quota of $4,817,000. The sales include corporate purchases running into hundreds of thousands of dollars so that Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public seem to be looking out the window in this drive.

Ellwood City Alone

One district in the county stands out like a headlight in a blackout, and that district is Ellwood City. The quota set for the Ellwood district was $980,000. Today the total is $2,045,286.25. In this of course is a large corporate subscription of about one million and other corporate subscriptions but Ellwood City is up to its quota now without counting the large corporate subscription mentioned.

Bessemer is also over its quota, having a total of $317,083.75 on a quota of $165,000. Figures today show that in the second war bond drive there were 22,376 subscribers either through pay roll deductions or by direct purchase. Today the total of subscribers is 6,937. In other words there are 15,439 people in Lawrence County today who purchased bonds in the second drive who have not purchased a dime's worth this time.

CAMP REYNOLDS MEN PICK BEANS

Delegation Of Soldiers From Transfer, Pa., At Weinschenks Tuesday

Tuesday, a detail of 50 soldiers from Camp Reynolds, at Transfer, Pa., formerly known as Camp Shenango, were brought here to assist in harvesting country crops, the detail aiding in picking of the huge crop of late beans at Weinschenks' gardens in Shenango township. The men accomplished a good bit of work, and received the prevailing wage for their efforts.

They were transported here in a bus and taken back to camp at the end of their day's labor in the same manner. However, because of the fact that it is impractical to transport a few men for special kinds of farm work, because of the cost of transportation, farm help is still sadly needed in the county, the Emergency Farm Labor Office states, and men are wanted for corn cutting, silo filling and similar work.

Men willing to work, who can spare a day or two a week or even a few hours a day, are asked to contact the Farm Labor Office, Pennsylvania Power Co. Building.

Hundred Thousand Soviet Citizens Freed From Nazis

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The London radio today quoted Moscow as saying that strong Russian forces, advancing in forests in the Bryansk-Chernigov area, have freed 100,000 Soviet citizens about to be deported for slave labor to Germany.

The broadcast, heard by CBS, said that "in one sector of the Poltava front 20,000 civilians were liberated."

Air-Borne Allied Forces Capture Outpost Of Japs

Seize Kaiapit, 60 Miles Northwest Of Fallen Base At Lae

JAPANESE ARE GIVEN SURPRISE

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 22.—Capture of a Japanese outpost 60 miles northwest of the fallen enemy base at Lae, New Guinea, by air-borne Allied ground forces was announced today.

Seizure of Kaiapit, which lies 70 miles south of the big Jap base at Madang, was accompanied by heavy bombing and strafing attacks on enemy communication lines south of Madang, apparently aimed at isolation of Jap-held Finschhafen, Nipponese coastal stronghold northeast of Lae.

Take Japs By Surprise

Ground forces transported by air to the Kaiapit area apparently took the Japanese by surprise. The Japs quickly organized and launched several counter-attacks but were repulsed by savage Allied fire and forced to retreat.

While the Allied jungle fighters were occupying Kaiapit, heavy and medium bombers with fighter escort lashed communication lines south of Madang with 54 tons of explosives and nearly 120,000 rounds of cannon and machine-gun fire.

Direct hits destroyed four principal bridges and three others were damaged. The main road to Madang was heavily hit. Twenty to 30 enemy trucks were set afire, a warehouse was wrecked and two barges were sunk in the Gogol river.

No Enemy Plane Opposition

The raiders met no opposition from enemy planes. All returned to their bases, but three were damaged by anti-aircraft fire.

The off-bombed Wewak and Borani airfields were hammered mercilessly by 43 tons of bombs hurled down by four-engined bombers escorted by swarms of fighter planes.

EXPECT TRANSFER OF GEN. MARSHALL

Expect Early Announcement In Change Of Status Of Chief Of Staff

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Friends of Gen. George C. Marshall are resigned today to his ouster as chief of staff of the United States army and transfer to a global field command, which may carry the title of commander in chief of all American and British forces throughout the world.

A White House announcement of the change in Marshall's status is expected Friday. Marshall's friends regard the impending transfer as a "demotion" rather than a "promotion." They say that Marshall today is the leading figure in global warfare strategy by virtue of his dominating position on the Anglo-American combined chiefs of staff, who plot the war. In the new post, they fear Marshall will become a super-duper field commander, carrying out the global strategy ordered by a war board on which he will no longer have a voice.

There is a remote possibility that congressional protests may result in Marshall remaining in his present post while assuming the new duties of world field commander. In such an event, it would be a promotion.

French Seeking To Drive Nazis Out Of Corsica

Report Rapid Progress Being Made In Sweep Against Germans

FIVE SPEARHEADS ARE DRIVEN EAST

By GRAHAM B. HOVEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 22.—French regulars and Corsican patriots drove five spearheads from west to east across the Island of Corsica today in the campaign to push Nazi occupation forces into the sea.

Headquarters of Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud, commander-in-chief of France's armed forces, reported that his troops made rapid progress to corner the German forces.

Rapid Progress

The rapid pace of the drive to recapture the island, historic as the birthplace of Napoleon, was indicated by the fact the French already are fighting the Germans at Bonifacio and Porto Vecchio, last main southern ports remaining in Nazi hands.

All of the western portion of the island was reclaimed and the Nazis herded into the eastern part of Corsica.

In the north the French threatened Bastia, Corsica's largest city, by pushing forward from captured St. Florent. Prongs also were driven at the Nazis from captured Crete, in the upper center part of the island some 20 miles from the east coast, from Zola, 14 miles from the east coast, from Levie, a few miles southwest of Zenza, and from the town of Sartene, 22 miles west of Porto Vecchio.

The Germans, according to all indications, have been unable to stem the onslaught of French troops assisted by an Italian garrison. The trained troops carried out the main campaign against the estimated 12,000 Nazis on the island while the Corsica patriots engaged in harassing operations and disrupted the German defenses.

Reports to headquarters indicated that heavy fighting may develop before Bastia and Porto Vecchio as the Germans strive to hold off the French while the main Nazi forces try a get-away across the sea to northern Italy, some 54 miles distant.

Stalin Gives Thanks To U. S. For Great Aid

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Premier Josef Stalin, of Russia, today publicly acknowledged the great aid that the United States is giving the Soviet Union in its fight to crush the Germans.

The unprecedented statement was made in the form of a message urging the American people to buy more War Bonds. It was the first time that the Russian leader had publicly thanked the United States for its lend-lease to his nation.

The message was addressed to the American people from the commander-in-chief of the Soviet armed forces, now pushing the Germans back on the eastern front. It was delivered before the daily "Back the Attack" show in Washington.

In his message, read by Maj. Gen. A. I. Belyaev of the Soviet air forces, Stalin urged the American people to buy War Bonds and thus "help the joint efforts of the Allies to achieve victory."

Stalin said that planes, tanks, guns and other munitions and equipment which are received from the allied United States and Great Britain "are aiding the Russians in their struggle to beat back the 'hated enemy from Soviet soil'."

The Soviet leader thanked "our American friends" who are "rendering great support in the fight against our common enemy."

"Every Soviet citizen," he said, "is not only assisting his army and his government to defeat the enemy, but is giving great financial support to the Soviet government in buying War Bonds."

Two Men Who Tried To Attack Mussolini Released By Allies

WITH ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY, Sept. 19.—(Delayed)—Two men who many years ago tried to assassinate Benito Mussolini and were condemned to life imprisonment have been released by Allied authorities from the notorious Italian penal islands.

But one of them, by ghastly mischance, was killed by a German shell just seven days after he had been at liberty for the first time in 16 years.

The unfortunate victim, the less well-known of the two, was an anarchist named Lucetti who in the early years of the Fascist regime threw a bomb at Il Duce but missed. At that time there was no death penalty in Italy—Mussolini did not introduce capital punishment until the latter part of his career.

Twelve Attempts

During the first 10 years of Fascism about 12 attempts on Mussolini's life were made, and all the would-be assassins were sent to prison for life except Mrs. Violet Gibson, an Englishwoman, who was sent home.

Lucetti was confined on the Island of Santo Stefano. He was freed Sept. 10 by Allied forces and taken to the Island of Ischia, where he (Continued On Page Two)

YANK BOMBERS IN CHINA MAKE ATTACK ON JAPS

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, Sept. 22.—Twin-motored Mitchell bombers of Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's command today were reported to have bombed duck installations at Kiukiang on Monday.

The communique from the general's headquarters said the B-25s also directly hit an enemy destroyer.

Approximately 30 Japanese bombers, with Zero fighter plane escort, attacked a major allied installation the same morning. The enemy bombing was inaccurate, however, as Lightning and Warhawk interceptors soared against the Japs, who attacked in several waves. Only minor damage was reported.

During and after the attack, 15 enemy bombers and two Zeros were destroyed and seven bombers and a pair of Jap fighters were listed as "probables."

All American pilots and their crews returned safely from these operations.

Pall Of Smoke From Many Fires Envelops Naples

Germans Apply Torch To City As Allied Troops Advance Steadily

HITLER PROGRAM OF DESTRUCTION BEGUN

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, Sept. 22.—In an act of wanton destruction without parallel since the days of Genghis Khan, the Germans put the torch to Naples today.

While British and American forces pounded northward, seizing four important towns on the main roads to Naples, Allied reconnaissance reported the beautiful ancient city overlooking the Tyrrhenian Sea engulfed in smoke and flames.

Fate Decried By Hitler

It appeared that Naples had been chosen as the first major example of the fate decreed upon Europe by Adolf Hitler. He promised years ago that if he went down in defeat, he would drag the continent with him in a holocaust of destruction.

The pall of smoke covering Naples was so thick that Allied reconnaissance fliers could not distinguish one fire from another.

No Allied bombing planes have attacked Naples recently, and not a single shell has been hurled into the city by Allied land or naval artillery well within range.

Nazis Fire City

Thus it is obvious that in anticipation of abandoning the city or fighting for its possession, the Nazis have set Naples on fire. If they are going to evacuate the city, the act is one of sheer wantonness or revenge. If they are going to fight for it, the fires may represent demolitions carried out to clear the way for street fortifications.

In any case, seasoned observers at Allied headquarters pointed out that extent of the smoke pall could mean nothing but the work of pyromaniacs. The fires were in-

Leghorn Harbor In Italy Bombed

Several German Ships Are Blasted—Raid Made By Liberator Bombers

(International News Service)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 22.—Several German ships were blasted in a forceful raid by United States bombers on the Nazi-occupied Italian port of Leghorn, a headquarters communique revealed today.

The attack was carried out by B-24 Liberator bombers of the United States Eighth Air Force now operating under the direction of the northwest African air base.

Leghorn, 180 miles northwest of Rome, was blasted while other four-motored B-WBs hammered the harbor of Bastia on the northeastern coast of the island of Corsica which has been full of enemy traffic since the German evacuation from Sardinia and Corsica began.

CITY MEN LEAVE FOR DUTY IN ARMY

Last Of Men In August Call Depart For Duty In Armed Forces

New Castle men, called up for service by Local Board One, left last evening for duty in the armed forces, departing via the P. and L. E. railroad. They were given the usual farewell ceremony by the Lawrence County Service Men's Aid Group of the U. S. O.

Although the number was much smaller than has been the case for the past several months, there was a large crowd of friends and relatives on hand to bid them God speed.

Those going last evening were mostly youths, while those from the other boards included a great number of Pre-Pearl Harbor married men. They were the last of the groups called up for service in the August call.

How much is it worth to go home at night, knowing that you'll have peace, how much is it worth to know that you won't see the gestapo police? How much is it worth to bring your kid back from the baltling across the sea, and what is the price of your freedom my friend, what's it worth to you and to me? Is it worth a hundred or maybe two, to be free of the bombers raid, is it worth even fifty to know that you can be free and be unafraid, is it worth a dime to be free, let me ask you, the one who will write the score, and by the way have you bought any bonds, the weather is seventy-four.

Demobilization Plan Is Urged

Priorities In Release Of Soldiers Urged By National C. Of C. Head

FREE ENTERPRISE MUST BE RATIONED

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 22—Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, told the opening session of the national convention of the American Legion that a system should be established on a priority basis for release of soldiers now serving in the armed forces.

Johnston said of post-war demobilization: "I believe it would be only fair to give priority of release to the oldest and to those who have served the longest, with the order of release determined by a balance of these factors."

Must Maintain System

Johnston also told the 1,500 delegates gathered in Omaha's city auditorium that the traditional system of free enterprise must be maintained in America after the war. In this, he reflected what promised to be the main theme of the Legion's silver jubilee meeting. Johnston insisted this country must have universal military training after the war to maintain an army ever ready to protect the nation "anywhere in the world." Also, he said the United States must maintain a two-ocean navy and keep the far-flung bases built up during the present conflict.

He declared these "decencies" must be established in the post-war United States:

Decencies Required

"A decent wage, decent home, decent education and decent social security."

Then Johnston turned on those who say there must be government regimentation on the premise that the nation has reached the limits of expansion, saying:

"The frontiers of science and industry are open as never before."

"Our principle problem is no longer one of production. We have mastered the art of mass manufacture. Now we must master the art of mass distribution."

It was predicted that the convention will adopt a resolution demanding that soldiers be given a year's furlough pay after their discharge from the army. President Roosevelt has proposed that they be given three months' salary.

Roane Waring, retiring national commander of the Legion, and Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, also addressed the opening session.

SHED LIGHT ON HESS MYSTERY

double-dealing months when Hitler was planning his invasion of Russia and featured the following:

1. Hitler was desirous of a permanent understanding with Great Britain.
2. If achieved, the British empire would be "permitted" to remain intact.
3. If the Hess offer were rejected, Hitler would consider it his "duty" to destroy Britain utterly and when the war was over to keep the nation in a state of permanent subjection.

Oust Churchill

Underlining all of this was the distinct understanding that Churchill would be relegated once again to the back benches and that prime ministry placed in the hands of someone suitable to the Wilhelmstrasse. The identity of candidates presumably acceptable to the little man with the moustache was not included in the British government's expose.

From the moment Hess plummeted out of the skies with his grandiose ideas a number of things were made clear to him. Paramount was that Great Britain would never entertain the question of negotiations with the Hitler government on any subject whatever.
Equal stress, it may be assumed, was placed upon the quiet but firm determination of Winston Churchill to remain in 10 Downing street whether fiercer likes it or not.

Hitler Confident

Hess, according to the British document, said that Hitler was convinced that Germany would win sooner or later. He asked the Duke of Hamilton, upon whose estate he landed, to get together a group of leading British conservatives with a view to considering peace proposals.

In later interviews with Alexander Kirkpatrick of the foreign office and others, he stressed the allegedly enormous power of German airplanes and submarines and affirmed his certainty that Britain would be defeated by blockade in the course of two or three years.

Hess insisted from time to time that his "peace formula" was presented without Hitler's knowledge.

Other details of this scheme were:

1. Germany to be given a free hand in Europe.
2. Britain to have a similar free hand in her empire except for former German colonies, which would be returned to the Reich.
3. Certain German demands on Russia must be settled by negotiations or war, but Nazi plans for invasion of the Soviet Union were denied.

4. The British must evacuate Iraq.

5. The peace agreement would contain a provision for reciprocal indemnification of British and German nationals whose property was expropriated because of the war.

Flyer's Body Arrives Home

The body of Second Lieutenant Kenneth L. Watt, 22, of Enon Valley, arrived Tuesday evening, accompanied by his widow and an escort, Second Lieutenant J. A. Walker, of the Army Air Base, Ontario, Calif., and was taken to the home of his father, W. S. Watt, in Enon Valley.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in Enon Valley Presbyterian church. Military services will be in charge of the Earl J. Watt Post, No. 638, American Legion, of Mt. Jackson.

It is reported that Lt. Watt was flying a P-38 plane from his base to Albuquerque, N. M., in a squadron of five or six planes when both motors of his plane went dead. In parachuting from the plane Lt. Watt is believed to have pulled the rip-cord too soon, the pressure exerted by the high speed of the plane tearing the parachute away from him. He fell about 2,000 feet to the ground.

centenary to begin with and man-led, with no apparent effort being made to control them.

German army activity on the approaches to the city indicates an intention to carry the battle into Naples' gutted streets and houses, foreshadowing the possibility of another Stalingrad in the cobbled thoroughfares of a metropolis that was already old when Christianity was born.

Stiffened enemy resistance was encountered in the continued Allied drive to the north.

Chief among the points captured was the rail and road junction of Potenza, midway between Salerno and Taranto in south-central Italy. The towns of San Cipriano Picentino, Montecorvino Rovella and Campagna in the Salerno area also were taken.

Forward Sweep

The forward sweep of American and British ground forces was accompanied by continued heavy air assaults extending from the battle area northward through the vital communications network around Naples to the Ligurian sea port of Leghorn, 180 miles northwest of Rome.

Both ends of an important highway bridge necessary to movement of German forces at Benevento, 35 miles northeast of Naples, were knocked out by American flying fortress.

Mitchell medium bombers crashed four direct hits on a rail bridge northeast of Capua, 16 miles north of Naples, and 16 hits were scored on a road south of the bridge. A highway south of Cancelli was knocked out by Martin Marauder bombers.

Liberator bombers of the United States Eighth Air Force, now operating with the Northwest African air forces, blasted the port of Leghorn, point of disembarkation for Nazi troops which evacuated Sardinia and are pulling out of Corsica. The B-24s also harassed the Nazis at Corsica by assaulting the port of Bastia.

The Germans fought a stubborn rearguard action in an effort to halt the advances of the American Fifth Army and the British Eighth Army. Small combat groups and numerous mines and demolitions were encountered east of Salerno as the German line wheeled to the north to face Allied troops moving in from the south.

Stiff resistance was offered by the German troops in the hills north and northeast of Salerno where heavy German artillery, mortars and machineguns are placed in advantageous positions for impeding Allied progress and guarding the approaches to Naples.

The rugged terrain northeast of Salerno is described as the worst possible, not excepting that which had to be crossed in Tunisia and in Sicily. This gives the enemy distinct defensive advantages.

Large fires and demolitions were observed at Naples which is covered with a pall of smoke. The German army forces occupied themselves with forming an ironclad protecting ring around the city.

The Eighth Army advance was achieved against minor opposition but demolitions and minefields were reported heavy. Exact movements of Montgomery's forces continue undefined.

"Key points must of course be taken, but a wise choice of such will obviate the need for storming the mass of islands now in enemy possession. Island hopping with extravagant losses and slow progress—some press reports indicating victory might be postponed as late as 1949—is not my idea of how to end the war as soon and as cheaply as possible."

Then he said that he had no personal military ambition, whatever and would be perfectly content in such a role as may be prescribed for him.

While Gen. MacArthur made no mention of recent tactical decisions, including the appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten as supreme commander for southeast Asia, observers felt that this must have influenced the general to carry directly to the people his strategic conviction.

Mitchell medium bombers crashed four direct hits on a rail bridge northeast of Capua, 16 miles north of Naples, and 16 hits were scored on a road south of the bridge. A highway south of Cancelli was knocked out by Martin Marauder bombers.

Liberator bombers of the United States Eighth Air Force, now operating with the Northwest African air forces, blasted the port of Leghorn, point of disembarkation for Nazi troops which evacuated Sardinia and are pulling out of Corsica. The B-24s also harassed the Nazis at Corsica by assaulting the port of Bastia.

The Germans fought a stubborn rearguard action in an effort to halt the advances of the American Fifth Army and the British Eighth Army. Small combat groups and numerous mines and demolitions were encountered east of Salerno as the German line wheeled to the north to face Allied troops moving in from the south.

Stiff resistance was offered by the German troops in the hills north and northeast of Salerno where heavy German artillery, mortars and machineguns are placed in advantageous positions for impeding Allied progress and guarding the approaches to Naples.

The rugged terrain northeast of Salerno is described as the worst possible, not excepting that which had to be crossed in Tunisia and in Sicily. This gives the enemy distinct defensive advantages.

Large fires and demolitions were observed at Naples which is covered with a pall of smoke. The German army forces occupied themselves with forming an ironclad protecting ring around the city.

The Eighth Army advance was achieved against minor opposition but demolitions and minefields were reported heavy. Exact movements of Montgomery's forces continue undefined.

defenses on the lower Dniepr and disclosed that Chernigov fell only after a furious three-day battle. In the many-pronged Soviet push toward Kiev, the communists said, more than 240 communities were liberated in advances ranging from six to 12 miles. The Russians were reported within 25 miles of Kiev at one point.

A Soviet column pushing west of the upper Dniepr river south of Bryansk toward Gomel in White Russia overran 270 communities Northwest of Bryansk, another Russian pushed six miles closer to Roslavl, important station on the railroad to Smolensk, and liberated 130 communities. Another hundred towns and villages were recaptured in a new Soviet advance from captured Velizh which has outflanked Smolensk on the northwest.

In the Dniepropetrovsk direction to the south, the Soviets scored gains up to nine miles and occupied Sinehnikovo, junction of four railroads connecting Dniepropetrovsk with Zaporozhe, Kharkov and the Donets basin. One Russian unit reached Khoroshevo, 10 miles from the great bend of the Dnieper.

(A Stockholm dispatch to London said Russian Cossacks already have reached the banks of the Dnieper only a few miles in advance of the main Soviet forces.)

At the lower end of the southern front, the Russians narrowed still further the German Kuban bridgehead to the Caucasus while Soviet forces on the northern shore of the Sea of Azov pushed closer to Melitopol, on the Germans' railroad escape route from the Crimea and Caucasus.

TWO MEN WHO TRIED TO KILL MUSSOLINI RELEASED BY ALLIES

was awaiting transportation when he was killed by a German shell Sept. 17.

Far more famous was Col. Toto Zamboni, who was on the Island of Ponza when liberated. Zamboni, one of Italy's heroes in the last world war, held every decoration for valor Italy could give him.

From the beginning of Fascism, Zamboni declared against the movement. He was passionately democratic. In 1927 he decided the best thing he could do for Italy would be to kill Mussolini.

He bought the finest of high-powered hunting rifles, equipped with a telescopic sight. He was an expert marksman. Zamboni planned his attempt on Mussolini's life for months.

Betrayed And Captured

One of the few places in Italy could be relied upon to appear in public during the first half of the Fascist regime was on the balcony of the Palazzo Chigi.

Finally after careful and tedious preparation, Zamboni managed to rent a room about 100 yards from the Palazzo Chigi balcony and overlooking it. He had practiced with his telescopic hunting rifle until he could hit a dime at 100 yards.

Zamboni lived in his assassin's room and waited for Mussolini to come out. But he had entrusted his secret to one man and it was one too many. And just before Mussolini appeared on the balcony, agents of Mussolini's secret police broke into Zamboni's room and overpowered him.

Of Zamboni's 16 years in prison, three were spent on San Stefano—where Italians knew as their "Devil's Island." Nevertheless Zamboni is said to be in good health.

Two of seven intercepting enemy fighters were knocked out of the sky during the crippling assaults.

Elsewhere in the New Guinea area, medium bombers kindled fires at the Doela and Langgoer airfields in the Kei islands and at Namlea on Boeroe island. The Gasmata airdrome in New Britain was bombed as were installations on nearby Rooke island.

In the Solomons, Allied airmen shot down 12 bombers and five fighters of an enemy force of 30 dive-bombers and 20 fighters which attempted to raid American positions at Barakoma on Vella Lavella island. Three additional Jap dive-bombers were destroyed by the American anti-aircraft defenses. Three Allied fighters were listed as missing.

Continued fighting between American and Japanese forces on tiny Arundel island, off New Georgia, was reported.

DUTY ON THE HOME FRONT

"The long, hard march to Berlin and Tokyo has just begun. If you think it will be easy, if you think we can win this fight with one hand . . . then you are wrong, dangerously wrong."

These words from Secretary Morgenthau of the Treasury Department we believe, are timely and are true. The Italian victory is only the beginning. We can make of that victory the occasion of a celebration in buying more War Bonds, or we can take the dangerous position of complacency, a position so dangerous it can easily lose this war for us.

Our men on the battle lines in Italy and the South Pacific are not resting—they are not complacent—they are face-to-face with the grim killers of our cruel, implacable enemies. And we cannot have that fighting front without a supporting front here at home. The people of this community are in the service of their country as much as though they were called into battle. That service consists of doing the jobs we must do in production and to support with every cent of our surplus earnings the Third War Loan drive which is now underway.

What sacrifice have we made comparable to those boys who have lost their legs, their arms—their lives in the living hell of the battle fields? As farmers we are enjoying our highest income peak. As workers in the plants and factories, we have reached our highest wage level. We are thousands of miles from the danger zone, yet these dollars will be as deadly to the enemy as bullets fired on the front lines. These dollars of ours must be fighting dollars in the form of War Bonds if we do our patriotic duty in this Third War Loan.

If you could but see the maimed, broken young men in our army and navy hospitals . . . if you could but see the rows of crosses on foreign soil . . . if you could but feel for one moment the living hell of the foxholes in the jungle, the rain of lead on an Italian battle field . . . the lurching, slippery, heaving deck of a warship during a fight-to-the-death . . . if you could but watch the advance of one of our divisions under deadly machine-gun fire . . . American boys—maybe your boy—sacrificing all for your safety and for the preservation of everything we hold dear in this community. Then perhaps, you would sacrifice everything in the way of material comforts and lend your money to your government for these War Bonds.

We are not asked to do that. We continue our lives here in comfort and safety. We continue to go to ball games . . . to the theatres . . . to our favorite tavern. We sit on our front porches and read the war news or discuss and cuss the Congress. We gather our rich harvests. We go about our daily tasks in the midst of our friends and fellows. We collect our fat paychecks and we come home to our families and perhaps there is a vacant place at the table. . . . Our boy may be out there somewhere and he's not complaining.

We grumble some about gas rationing. We can't get thick juicy steaks any more. Service is not what it formerly was, prices are up . . . but is there any comparison with your trifling inconveniences and the sacrifice these American sons are making.

If you have a conscience, you'll go to the nearest place and buy that extra $100 War Bond at once.

RUSSIA'S GREAT WESTWARD DRIVE

There is at present no way of knowing exactly in what degree the Anglo-American campaign in Italy has helped the Russians in their great drive to expel the invaders. But even if the Allied challenge in southern Europe has compelled Hitler to shift manpower and airpower from the eastern front, the Red Army's magnificent sweep westward is none the less remarkable.

The Russians' superb advance toward Smolensk and Kiev can be fully appreciated when it is realized that Smolensk was one of the first important captures in the German drive of 1941. Since Hitler's legions were turned back at Stalingrad last fall the Russians have not only blocked a large-scale summer offensive by the Nazis but have recovered thousands of square miles of their territory.

It is hardly debatable that Allied operations in North Africa, Sicily and Italy have been of assistance to the Russians, in addition to the huge lease-lend aid sent to the Soviets.

There is need of full recognition by all the United Nations that each is doing its part for victory, different though the roles may be. In the circumstances it is highly desirable that for better understandings all around Russian join, at the earliest possible moment, in war councils with America and Britain.

FEDERAL-STATE COOPERATION

Great progress in federal-state cooperation on war problems is reported by the Office of War Information. One of the most irritating and difficult situations to correct was that created by a maze of conflicting state laws and regulations governing the operation of trucks. Limitations on the weights and dimensions of trucks varied from state to state. Taxing and licensing provisions were confusing and complicated.

The multiplicity of barriers, designed primarily to keep trade from moving freely across state lines, interposed a serious obstacle when transportation of war material across the continent became an urgent necessity. There still are some kinks to be ironed out but remedial legislation, in so far as the size and weight of trucks are concerned, has brought all the states into conformity with an emergency formula adopted by a joint committee of the federal agencies and the Council of State Governments.

In detailing what has been accomplished in standardization and uniformity in other areas of state activity and prerogative, the OWI makes this arresting comment: "State and local cooperation has been greatest where federal agencies have recognized local autonomy and used local machinery to administer regulations of national scope. Most difficulties have come from deviation from that principle."

Washington has been slow to grasp that truth.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EQUIPPING SCHOOL CHILD

This fall, most parents who really care can afford to provide their school child with such equipment as will be needed by him to get on well with his school work. My special bulletin, "Helping Your Child Get On Well at School", may be had for three cents postage in the usual way.

In most states free text books are provided but in some places, the child in the lower grades is not allowed to take these books home. In case the teacher is held financially liable for these books, we can hardly complain to her. But why should she be held responsible?

Yet this is not the usual reason for forbidding the child to carry his books home. It is that the child might learn a wrong method at home or, having become familiar at home with the story in his reader, will not find it interesting at school.

Reason Seem Silly
Both these alleged reasons have always seemed to me silly. As any parent knows who has read to the tot, he likes best those stories which he has, within limits, heard most often. As for learning by wrong methods at home, scientific studies aided and abetted by common sense indicate that there is no one right way of learning to read.

But the chief argument for letting the young child take his school books home is for family comradeship. He likes to read to his parents, grandparents, baby brother, baby sister or playmate. What better practice or motive for his progress in reading?

Without arguing with the teacher or criticizing her before the child—she does what she has been taught or told to do—buy a set of books such as the child uses at school, for his home use.

Books To Take Home

What about the child whose parents can't afford to buy them or think they can't? When state legislatures or school boards have voted public funds for free school books, has not the most convincing argument been on behalf of the children of the poor? Some day P. T. A.'s mothers' clubs and other civic organizations will create public sentiment demanding that all children may carry home free text books.

Above the fifth or sixth grade a child should have a good fountain pen. A typewriter, if it can be found, is desirable equipment for the high school and college age. A standard dictionary, preferably an unabridged edition for the upper grades and high school is a good investment. Every home with growing children should have up-to-date maps and a large globe, not only for the school child but also for the whole family as they discuss together the news of the day. The tot and young child at school need to have crayons, paints, large sheets of paper and books. A list of books from which to read to the baby and young child may be had for postage in the usual way; also a graded list of books for the child 6 to 12 to read.

Solving Parent Problems

Our 17-year-old daughter seems to have lost interest in things and to live entirely in herself. What would you advise?

A. That you consult a psychiatrist about her.

Q. Should you teach the young child fear of snakes?

A. Not of all snakes, but only be cautious about the few poisonous snakes near where he lives, if such there be. Far more persons are poisoned by needless fear of snakes than the number from snake bites. The average child usually sees only harmless snakes as the common water snake, garter snake or black snake.

Q. Should a healthy boy or girl over 13 years of age be expected to mow the lawn and do similar jobs about the home?

A. Yes; if they are to get best education for character and citizenship.

Q. What is our patriotic duty concerning the surplus production from our victory gardens?

A. To make sure none of it goes to waste; that it be sold or given to others who can use it. The same applies to surplus milk and fruit.

"But it grew on office time," protested the clerk.

"It didn't all grow on office time," argued the boss.

"But I didn't have it all cut off, either," the clerk pointed out, and the boss went back to his office to sweat it out to himself.

WAR WORK

To women who write to me that they want to do their share of war work but who are too old to enter factories, drive cars or do anything else strenuous, I recommend enlistment in the noble corps of Gray Ladies.

They are the gray-veiled women who work under the Red Cross to entertain service men confined in hospitals. Each must volunteer a minimum of 50 hours of hospital duty a year in order to keep her Gray Lady veil.

Already thousands of them have enlisted for this valuable work. Any member of the American Legion will testify to how much he and his comrades loved these angels of the sick room and convalescent ward during World War I. The value of the Gray Lady double, if she is musical and trebles if she can play those card games the enlisted boys and their officers like best. Johnny Q. Doughboy, while bedridden, makes double speed toward recovery if her Gray Ladyship will come in daily and challenge him at some two-handed game like Rummy, checkers or Honeycomb Bridge. And if his appetite has not yet picked up, it will be pepped up by one of these foster-sisters arriving with a carton of home-made delicacies approved by the medical staff. After Johnny reaches the convalescent quarters, he appreciates a Gray Lady who will sing for him or play his accompaniment while he sings.

It all boils down to the old law that the best medicine for a mentally or physically sick man is an entertaining woman. Her psychotherapeutic value is being better appreciated every day.

After the mad Sultan Schahar of India proclaimed his law concerning to death each morning his bride of the night before and after he had thus victimized many hapless girls, he forced the daughter of his Grand Vizier to wed him. But this girl, Scheherazade (one of our favorite operatic heroines), knew enough of psychotherapy to tell him each night a new installment of a serial story and make it so interesting that he spared her life from night to night in order to hear more. Thus she told him the 1001 "Arabian Nights" tales that we thrilled over when children and thus she healed his diseased mind to the degree that he voluntarily repealed his cruel law. Any doctor will testify to the curative value of a charming personality assigned to distract one of the opposite sex from suffering.

There are many other phases of Red Cross work for those unqualified for the Gray Ladies—bandage rolling, canteen work, assistants in the Blood Donor Bureau, knitting, sewing, etc. etc. There is no excuse today for idleness.

POOR HUNGRY COW

A local suburbanite became alarmed when the milkman cut down on his deliveries, so he went out and got himself a cow, arguing that he had a good-sized lot and the animal could do considerable grazing around the place to cut down the feed bill.

The day the cow was delivered he put her out to graze, and she contentedly worked on fringes of the lawn.

But when the suburbanite's wife came by she was horrified.

"William!" she cried to her husband. "Come down here at once, please."

"What has happened?" asked hubby, falling downstairs in his rush.

"It's that cow that you got," she explained. "The poor thing must be simply starved. Look at her eating the grass, would you?"

The average driver protests his right of way with the ferocity of a lioness shielding her cubs.

An auxiliary policeman on dimout patrol was puzzled to see a light flare up at intervals down the street, and then another flash as though a sheet of paper were being ignited.

He walked up to investigate and saw a middle-aged woman holding a burning piece of paper as if she were using it as a light to search for something.

"Here's my flash," he offered.

"No thank you," the woman answered. "I am only showing my little doggie the way home."

Don't travel any more now than is necessary. Many people have to travel because they have to.

Another thing, if you have to travel, carry as little baggage as possible.

How can any grown person hope to understand kids who think Sinatra something wonderful?

Freedom is doomed when people fold their hands and say, "Why doesn't the government do it?"

One sure way to start trouble and strife is to give an aged official a young assistant who can think faster.

We have seen them do it. And admit it's some feat—Powdering their noses. In a rumble seat.

Probably never before in the history of this country did so many men find time and the urge to make speeches.

Once peace comes a hubbub of thousand voices will spring into action over night, telling what to do with it.

A man can beat shoe rationing. One coupon will get a pair of $15 shoes, which will outlast three $5 pairs.

NOT TO BLAME
An old farmer and his wife were standing before their pigsty looking at their only pig, when the old lady said: "Say, John, it will be our silver wedding tomorrow. Let's kill the pig!"

John replied with disgust: "What is the use of murdering the pig for what happened 25 years ago?"

Junior thinks the Italian kids don't have it so tough. Their nation lost the war but Italy's schools are still closed.

This may not be that more abundant life that we used to talk about though everyone now is a coupon clipper.

Very often the kitchen in a home looks better than any other room in the house.

We read of a bird who used a necktie to hang himself with. Omy-gosh!

Wallace-Knox Alliance Held Suspicious
Vice President May Have Eye On New Job
Italy's Fall To Cost Us Many More Lives

By HELEN ESSARY

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—That recent picture of Vice President Wallace hugging Navy Secretary Frank Knox disturbs me. It outshines in my mind's eye those glowing post-war plans of the vice president.

That is because the Wallace-Knox embrace was so out of character for Henry Wallace. It indicated that Wallace is playing politics in a way not suitable for a son of Iowa. The rush of friendliness that knocked Secretary Knox's hat off meant Wallace is driving himself to undertake some unhappy fourth term shenanigans.

The picture reminded me of a scene in the old Stevens hotel in Chicago while the delegates were assembling for the Democratic convention of 1940. Wallace, then the eager secretary of agriculture, was walking through the lobby between two southern senators. He had an arm over each senator's shoulder, and was laughing and chucking very noticeably.

"What goes on here?" I thought. "When diffident, self-conscious Henry Wallace tries a clumsy embrace with political bosses, something unexpected is certain to happen."

Something unexpected did happen. Wallace was nominated vice president on Franklin Roosevelt's ticket. Perhaps the v. p. wants the job for four years more.

Two women—Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Churchill—I hear it said around that the trip of Mrs. Roosevelt to those strange and foreign parts may change her present status as a party liability into a party asset. New Dealers have been uneasy about Mrs. Roosevelt since 1940.

Before then she was an asset. When war threatened the United States and she continued to write and speak, it became more and more difficult for the public to accept her as a personality on her own responsibility, rather than as the mouthpiece of the administration.

In the years since the war began many people have thought Mrs. Roosevelt should retire completely into private life. Now, with Australia and their neighbors having received the president's wife so happily, it may be that Mrs. Roosevelt may help smooth the bumpy road to international understanding.

Mrs. Churchill is a charming and clever campaigner at home and abroad. She has zestfully stepped into the public life of the United States with interviews, photographs, sight-seeing trips and informal little meetings with simple people.

Reports from England insist that Mrs. Churchill is more of a liberal than her husband. She whittles away steadily at certain of his conservative views. By the way, members of Churchill's staff refer to him as the P. M.

Many people wonder what woman will do after the war. Will they give up their thousand and one new jobs and rush back to bridge parties, ladies' luncheons and other kinds of housework?

I can't answer this question. I do believe, however, that already the war has changed the status of women. Certainly in the American world. I don't mean that women have "advanced," whatever that is.

On the contrary I believe that women have slipped back into the traditional task of "helpline" of keeping the home fires burning while their men go off to fight.

These new jobs of women in the uniformed services, in the factories and machine shops, neither promise women as individuals nor as prima donnas. Indeed many of the women who are helping win this

BOYHOOD MEMORY
The joys called memories seem to be gay pages in a book.

On which in times of solitude a man may turn to look.

And thumbing backward as he will among the crowded lot.

He'll find a picture here and there he'd utterly forgot.

Now there is this one, fresh as new: A boy of tender years.

Being sent away from breakfast till he'd washed behind his ears!

That little fellow cannot tell, now he is turning gray.

The reason he detested soap in that far yesterday.

Nor can he say why washing seemed, back then, so grim a care.

He shirked it every time he could. When mother wasn't there.

He only knows when he was small at breakfast, lunch or tea.

His mother looked him over to make sure that clean was he.

Strange picture this in memory's book forever to remain:

"My son, have you forgotten? Must I speak to you again?"

And then that small boy turning from the table wondering why.

His mother was so fussy when there sat no stranger nigh.

And always that commandment following argument and tears:

"Go back and scrub your knuckles and then wash behind your ears!"

All history deals with triumph and forgets the commonplace.

There's not a line to tell us did young Caesar wash his face.

Or did his mother scold him, as did mine and yours, no doubt.

SEN. WHEELER SEEKS DELAY IN FATHER'S DRAFT

Wants Action Held Up Until Bill Before Congress Is Disposed Of

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., called upon the War Manpower Commission today to postpone the draft of fathers until congress can act on his bill deferring them until January 1.

With senate debate on the Wheeler bill delayed until next Tuesday, it appeared unlikely that congressional action on the measure could be completed before October 1, the date announced for the start of the fathers' draft.

With senate military affairs committee was scheduled to complete hearings on the issue today with testimony of Bernard M. Baruch, administration adviser, on the general manpower situation. Debate was delayed to permit members to study printed hearings.

Baruch was expected to reiterate declarations in his report to War Mobilizer James P. Byrnes calling for drastic action to halt waste of manpower, but to repeat opposition to deferring fathers. Baruch said it was necessary that fathers go into essential industries.

"I assure that if the bill passed the senate and is under consideration in the house they will not go ahead and call fathers," said Wheeler. "A brief postponement must be granted to permit congress to act on this bill."

"Even though the bill does not pass by October 1 we have the word of Gen. Hershey that non-fathers will be called first. In August I asked that congress be called back into session, but Democratic leaders said there would be ample time without this special action."

With some senators saying that opposition to the Wheeler bill is so great that it may never reach a vote, Wheeler relied upon a showing that 446,000 men could be obtained from deferred classes without calling fathers.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio said he would push his substitute bill requiring that fathers 30 years of age and under, be drafted first, but expects the administration to oppose it.

United Steelworkers Report Large Balance

Audit Shows Net Balance Of
$2,646,231 — Includes
1,800 Locals; 745,000
Members

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22.—An audit report embracing the six-month period ending May 31, 1942, and released today shows the United Steelworkers of America enjoying a net balance of $2,646,231.

The report, prepared by union officials for the CIO affiliate's 1,800 locals and 745,000 members, disclosed an increase of assets of almost one million dollars during the half year between May 31 of this year and November, 1942.

A breakdown of figures reveals that $3,966,358.92 was collected in union dues and fines during the period covered by the fiscal report, while $1,070,760.10 of this money was later refunded to the locals.

Costs of operating the international and local offices of the USWA totaled $2,054,270, leaving an excess of income over expense amounting to $871,328.12.

This latter figure represents almost three times as great an amount of excess income as was accumulated in the previous seven months when $301,178.75 remained to be permanently added to the union's funds.

Expenditures for the operation of the international office, employing a permanent staff of 79 persons, reached $622,316.53 as compared with the outlay of $1,428,136.31 for the maintenance of local district offices.

Philip Murray, president of the USWA, in an appendix to the report, said that the union has more than 200,000 members in the armed forces and has purchased $550,000 in the United States government bonds and $70,000 in the Canadian bonds.

JAP NAVY HAS BEEN BACKED UP

Allied Fliers Also Hold Mastery
Of Air In New Guinea Area

By PAT ROBINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUADALCANAL, Sept. 22.—(Delayed)—Over in New Guinea American and Australian troops, under General MacArthur's direct command, are closing their pincers on Lae and Salamaua. Here in the Solomons, Allied troops under Admiral Halsey's direct command, are firmly entrenched in Vella Lavella, just south of Bougainville, the Japs' last bastion in the Solomons.

Everywhere in both arenas we hold complete mastery of the air, a mastery so dominating that we can do raid at will any Jap base within reach of our planes, which at the same time prevents the enemy from making an effective raid anywhere.

A year ago the Japs used to send their fighting ships—battle wagons, cruisers and destroyers—south to attack us in our own waters. Today they don't send a ship south of Bougainville and the only time they send any there is to convoy supply ships under cover of night or bad weather.

Admiral Halsey's fighting ships thus have backed the Jap navy up within the shelter of their own bases while his ships move everywhere with utter contempt for the enemy. In fact, our fighting Blue Jacks go seeking trouble in Japanese waters but the Japs are afraid to come out and fight.

The last time the Japs tried to make a dash south was the night of Aug. 5-6 when Halsey's destroyers met and sank a Jap cruiser or destroyer leader and three destroyers without suffering damage to a single American ship.

Thus we hold sway in the air, on land and on sea well up inside the Japs' perimeter of defense, and his hold on such powerful bases as New Britain and Wewak and Mekele in New Guinea have grown correspondingly weaker.

However, at those four points and at others within their scope, he probably has 150,000 to 200,000 well-equipped, well-trained men and it is not going to be an easy task to dislodge them. You never hear of the Japs surrendering by thousands as the Italians have. On the contrary, they usually fight to the death.

If bus and truck drivers in the Atlantic seaboard area saved one gallon of every 1,000 of gasoline used, the total amount saved in a six-day week would keep a mechanized division moving for five hours.

RAID ON PLOESTI OIL FIELDS WAS GREAT AIR BATTLE

(International News Service)

MECHANISBURG, Pa., Sept. 22.—The raid on the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania "was one of the greatest air battles of the war," in the opinion of Brig. Gen. Uzal Ent, commander of the middle east air forces. Fifty-two American planes were lost in the attack.

Ent told students at Mechanicsburg high school yesterday that "it would have taken a million soldiers to duplicate the damage done. He added that "although our losses were heavy, the damage we did was great."

The flying general predicted that it would take at least another year to defeat Germany and much longer to beat Japan. "The war is not yet nearly over, although we now are on the offensive," he stated. Ent paid a surprise visit to relatives in Mechanicsburg and his nephew asked him to address his schoolmates while there.

LOSES END OF FINGER

Gary Guy, aged 20 years, of Wampum, had the tip of his right index finger severed, when it was caught in a food chopper. He was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, last evening for his injury.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Steve Winter, box 358 of Wampum, received medical attention in the New Castle hospital, Tuesday evening at 8:25 p. m. when a piece of glass was extracted from his hand. He was discharged later.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

war actively have given up spectacular jobs in order to undertake office, industrial and kitchen drudgery. The warrior men meanwhile are rushing off dramatically to conquer the foe. It is almost medieval stuff.

Jumping suddenly to Europe—Italy at the moment is a hot potato in the United Nations' hand. "Italy Surrenders" has a thrilling sound. Italy did surrender. Heaven be praised. Yet for the present we seem to have exchanged frightened Italians, complete with amiable grandmothers and welcoming jugs of red wine, for tough Nazis. I shudder to think of the thousands of American lives the winning of Italy will cost.

Rome, which has withstood the barbarism of friend and invader, the slaughter of martyrs and the madness of her own emperors, will surely triumph over Nazi occupation.

I remember many pleasant times in the Imperial City. Smart lunches at the Excelsior. The art galleries by daylight. Ruins by moonlight. Rides in rickety old cabs. Delicious food and pretty music and candlelit tables in the garden of the old Russie hotel. I suppose such days will come again.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices
in the stomach
2—Energize your body with
RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood.

A growing person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be present to build sturdy bodies. SSS Tonic is especially designed to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient and to promote those STOMACH JUICES which digest food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite... firm flesh... body energy... mental alertness!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. U.S.S.S. Co.

New Attacks Are Launched On OPA

Bill To Be Presented To Congress To Open Courts To Complaints

By WILLIAM THEIS (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Rep. Dirksen (R), Ill., touched off a fresh round of attacks on the office of price administration in Congress today. Dirksen announced the immediate introduction of a bill to reopen all federal courts to complaints against OPA regulations.

The Dirksen measure would kill a section in the price control act vesting exclusive jurisdiction over OPA cases in an emergency court located in Washington.

At the same time, the congressman served notice that the House appropriations committee of which he is a member would tighten its control of OPA funds and "force" the agency's adherence to House-imposed restrictions on operating policy.

"We have suspended democracy long enough," he declared. "It is time to restore it."

Under the existing appeal machinery, Dirksen said the "individual citizen has no practical recourse against any regulation which a federal administration might issue." The emergency court was created, he explained, on the theory that federal courts were "too congested" to handle OPA matters and that the new court would "sit in divisions so that justice would be accessible to all litigants."

Ask Ballot Box Be Opened In Second Ward

In a petition presented to the Lawrence County courts today, Perry S. McCune, Clarence E. Roberts and D. M. Stewart ask that the election box of the second precinct of the Second ward be opened and counted. The petition states that the petitioners have information which seems to indicate fraud or error has been committed in the counting of the returns. A bond of $50 has been posted.

The petition asks that the votes for constable be counted again. John H. Gross, Sr., and Peter Rupp were the candidates for the Republican nomination and Gross won. It is said the three petitioners are friends of Mr. Rupp and believe the count as returned by the election board is incorrect.

THOUSANDS FAIL TO BUY BONDS YET

either through pay roll deductions or by direct purchase. Apparently the war is over for them. The kids up around Naples would be interested to know this.

All Under Quota
With the exception of Ellwood City which is so far out in front in this campaign that comparisons bring a laugh, and Bessemer also, every district in the county is down deep under its quota.

New Castle with a quota of $4,817,000 has $2,871,785.90. New Wilmington with a quota of $155,000 has a total of $65,392.78. Volant with a quota of $70,000 has a total of $38,387.50. Wampum with a quota of $120,000 has a total of $30,206.25; Bessemer with a quota of $165,000 has a total of $317,083.75. Ellwood City with a quota of $980,000 has a total of $2,045,286.25.

There are the figures, ladies and gentlemen. The "E" bond quota, which is the quota that the average citizen fits into is $2,337,400. There has been sold to date $442,973 or less than 20 per cent of the quota.

Unless Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen suddenly remember there is a war going on, unless they want to back their lusty singing of "God Bless America" with some dollars, the third war campaign in Lawrence County will fail. And the only reason it will fail will be because the average man and woman failed to live up to his or her responsibility.

N. B. The boys in action in New Guinea have purchased $136,000 worth of bonds. Some of these boys are from Lawrence County. Would anyone like to ask them to have their purchases credited to this county?

There will always be segregation while the poor can't afford to live where the rich live.

Presbytery Has Session In City

Rev. E. A. Shoemaker Released From Westfield Pastorate—Other Action During Day

Rev. Harry E. Woods of the First Presbyterian church of Sharpsville, was re-elected moderator of Shenango Presbytery for the coming half-year when that group met for an all day session Tuesday in the First Presbyterian church, corner of North Jefferson and Falls streets, this city.

Rev. T. C. Henderson of New Castle was re-elected permanent clerk for one year.

Opening devotions yesterday were led by Dr. W. M. Cleveland of Harrisburg who brought a message from the office of the Synod of Pennsylvania.

Pastor Released

The pastoral relations existing between Rev. E. A. Shoemaker, now a Navy chaplain, and Westfield Presbyterian church were dissolved at his request. Mr. Shoemaker may possibly continue in the chaplaincy for some time. Elder W. S. Fullerton of Westfield church reported for the congregation and session and requested that Rev. W. M. Allman, at his own request, be relieved of the office of moderator of the session of Westfield church and be replaced by Rev. R. M. Touvel of Bessever church.

Robert MacNeill of Englewood avenue, New Castle, was received and enrolled as a candidate for the ministry. He will attend Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and will enter the accelerated course of training for chaplaincy in the Army.

Rev. T. C. Berger of Slippery Rock church, Ellwood City, recommended that the churches pay a sum equal to three percent of their entire church budget as their part in the $1,250,000 fund being raised by the denomination for war work and the recommendation was adopted.

Named At New Bedford

Dr. Robert Wells Veach of New Wilmington was re-appointed state supply of the Hopewell church, New Bedford, for the remainder of the calendar year. Beginning January 1, 1944, he will take up special war work under the Presbyterian War-time Service Commission.

Presbytery was re-organized and the entire list of standing committees was appointed for the coming three years. Six of the principal committee officers are: chairman of National Missions, Dr. J. J. McIlvaine of New Castle; chairman of Foreign Missions, Rev. W. J. Holmes of New Castle; chairman of Christian Education, Rev. W. F. Byers of New Wilmington; chairman of the Board of Pensions, Rev. C. E. Lamale of Clarksville; chairman of Committee on Bills and Overtures, Dr. Robert Meade Patterson of New Castle; chairman of Committee on United Promotion, Dr. William L. Wishart of Sharon.

Rev. Homer K. Miller, pastor of the Rich Hill and Volant churches, who has been ill in a Pittsburgh hospital, expects to resume his work at an early date.

New Castle Central Presbyterian church was named as the stated place of meeting for the coming year. The next meeting of Shenango Presbytery will be in this church on Tuesday, January 11, 1944.

FORCED SAVINGS PLAN OPPOSED

Minnesota Congressman Leads Opposition To Proposed Revenue Program

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The administration's decision to recommend compulsory savings drew a blast today from the ranking Republican on the house ways and means committee, Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, who declared that "American people can't exist on tax receipts."

With the tax-writing ways and means committee slated to take up the question of additional revenue next week, Knutson gave notice he would fight an attempt to increase the burden on personal incomes either by increased taxes or forced savings.

The impending administration proposal is said to embrace an idea calling for increased income tax rates with the increase to be rebated after the war.

Decision to back it was reached at a White House meeting and it is said to have the support of President Roosevelt. War Mobilizer Byrnes, Economic Stabilizer Vinson, and Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau who heretofore had opposed it.

Knutson said: "In considering forced savings, we must not forget that war spending has hit 50 percent of our people much harder than the other half. I refer to the so-called white collar workers."

"We are already withholding 20 percent from most of their pay envelopes. To add another 10 percent to their already heavy burden means too much of confiscation despite the fact that they are supposed to get it back. After all, people can't exist on tax receipts; they have to have something left."

President Roosevelt has asked for an additional $12,000,000,000 in revenue. Knutson expressed conviction that the ways and means committee, which must originate all tax legislation under the constitution, would never vote that sum.

HERO WHO RECRUITED FLYING TIGERS IS DEAD

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 22.—Colonel Richard Aldworth, credited with recruiting the Flying Tigers, is dead. He was 46.

He had been an invalid since 1937 when he set his pursuit plane down at sea off Rockaway Beach, N. Y., rather than crash the disabled craft on the crowded beach. President Roosevelt awarded him the Distinguished Flying Cross for his act. Last Saturday, 24 hours before his death, he was awarded the Legion of Honor Medal.

Funeral services were conducted at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

SEVENTH WARD

FORMER PASTOR, NOW U. S. CHAPLAIN, GIVEN TRANSFER

Word has been received by friends in the ward, that Chaplain Michael P. Hinnebusch has been transferred from Camp Gordon, Georgia, to Alliceville, Alabama, where he has been appointed Catholic chaplain at the internment camp for German prisoners of war.

Rev. Fr. Hinnebusch was formerly pastor of St. Margaret's church in the ward. He is a priest of the Pittsburgh Diocese, and has been serving as an army chaplain for the past two years.

In reference to Chaplain Hinnebusch's work as chaplain, the "Pittsburgh Catholic" publishes a statement in a letter from Cpl. Roland U. Paris, who served as the chaplain's assistant at Camp Gordon—"I worked under Chaplain Hinnebusch for over eight months here in Camp Gordon. During that time I was a constant witness to his untiring efforts and great priestly zeal. There were times when he served in several areas of camp at one time, and no matter how much he had to do I always found him ready to come to the assistance of everyone, regardless of rank, race, or creed. His transfer to Alliceville was a great loss to our hospital and camp where he made himself such a fine reputation and endeared himself to so many of us in the service."

Ground Broken For New Homes

Thirty-One Now Contracted For Are Part Of Block Of Eighty Planned

Ground was broken Tuesday for the thirty one new homes which will be built in the first and second wards for the accommodation of new industrial workers who have come to New Castle, and the ground breaking for the new homes marks the materialization of a plan evolved a year ago by the Housing committee of the Greater New Castle association.

The thirty one homes are the first block of eighty that are to be built. They will be six room, brick homes, Colonial type, each to accommodate a single family. The reason for this particular type of house is to provide for war plant workers, particularly men of the United Engineering and Foundry Co.

Part of Plan

The first part of the housing plan in New Castle was to convert homes which were large enough to permit of it. The New Castle plan of home conversion has attracted wide attention over the country. The work of the Housing committee under Norman E. Clark is a demonstration that a city the size of New Castle can handle its own housing problems.

The Andrews Realty company, headed by Dale Andrews, has let contracts to the Heller Construction company of Youngstown, and the first of the homes should be completed in about four months. They will rent at $50 per month each.

Oakley Hesselbarth, head of the Federal Housing Administration has said the New Castle plan has developed into one of the outstanding private construction jobs in the country. The homes will be of different design and will not all be built in the same locality.

German Prisoners Reveal Hitler May Lack Manpower

(International News Service) ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 22.—With completion of the first phase of the Salerno battle, Allied military observers today viewed enemy prisoners taken and concluded the Germans may be scraping the bottom of the manpower barrel.

A fair percentage of the captured enemy soldiers were reported to be non-German. These men were identified as from occupied countries under Hitler's control, as well as some Italians "not permitted to admit they are beaten."

This was taken to indicate how short the Germans must be in manpower, for many of these non-Aryan troops were used as combat forces.

Completion of this initial phase of the Salerno battle also was taken as symbolic. The beachhead heights were littered with destroyed enemy guns, tanks, panzer equipment and supplies. Axis losses were described tersely as "heaviest."

PISTOL WASN'T EMPTY

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Fourteen-year-old Edward Talbot, Jr., of suburban Upper Darby, died today from a bullet wound received while he was demonstrating an "empty pistol."

According to police, the boy told other youngsters that the weapon was not loaded. Then he put it to his head to demonstrate and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered his temple.

GERMANS LOOT ITALIAN TOWNS

Everything Portable Is Taken From Italian Towns By Nazi Forces

By WILLIAM STONEMAN Representing The Combined United States Press

(Distributed by International News Service) WITH THE AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY, Sept. 21.—Delayed—Emergency measures to relieve the plight of the Italian civilian population in the Salerno area already have largely relieved the danger of hunger and disease.

The Germans have made a deliberate policy of stripping every town and village of everything portable, including foodstuffs, linens and other necessities of ordinary life.

Inhabitants of villages and towns who fled to the mountains to escape bombing and shelling upon their return found nothing but rubble.

Thus it is up to us—despite the fact that these people recently were our enemies—to organize food supplies almost the instant we occupy a place. We have done this largely by transporting grain and other foodstuffs from outlying districts and warehouses to centers of population and by furnishing local authorities with gasoline with which to operate their own trucks, when they have them.

A tremendous problem will face us as we reach larger towns and cities such as Naples, most of which already are close to the hunger line—if they haven't crossed it already. Fantastic stories of hunger and disease already have reached us from Naples. Although they lack full substantiation it is known that the situation there is dire.

With New Castle Afro-Americans

Executive committee of the N. A. A. C. P. will meet in the home of Mrs. Blanche Dillard, 131 Elm street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

BATTLE OVER RATION TOKENS NOW LOOMING

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A fight within the office of Price Administration over the proposed use of ration tokens to supplement the present stamp rationing of food loomed today.

One high official of the agency described the proposal as "wholly unnecessary" and said that he would protest its adoption to Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown.

The plan for issuing tokens as "change" for food ration coupons was developed during Brown's absence on an extended vacation and reportedly has not yet received his final approval.

An aide to the OPA chief said that no significance should be attached to the fact that the token program was unveiled during Brown's visit to Michigan, since it first had been discussed six months ago. He conceded, however, that there was opposition to it.

Opponents of the proposal made two particular charges against it: 1. It would provoke widespread ration counterfeiting, with tokens easier to duplicate than stamps and no registration required to obtain them.

2. Institution of a new system at this stage would merely complicate the rationing program and confuse consumers.

"The token plan is wholly unnecessary," one official asserted. "The present stamp program is working smoothly and the people are accustomed to its operation."

Russians Don't Lend Money For War; They Give

When I left Moscow the Russian people were being asked to GIVE their savings to build tanks and aircraft for the Red Army. And they're giving with a grand, unselfish generosity," writes Henry C. Cassidy, author of "Moscow Dateline."

"All they were getting in return was a message of thanks from their leader, Joseph Stalin, to the collective farm, factory or office through which their gift was sent, plus the personal satisfaction of knowing that they were giving to hasten victory. They were promised no other return, and they asked no other."

"By the end of a single month they had given more than four billion rubles or, at the official rate of exchange, eight hundred million dollars."

"When I reached home, I found we were being asked to LEND our money for the same purpose: to subscribe to our own War Loan, with return of the principal guaranteed, as only the United States of America can guarantee it, plus interest and the knowledge that we, too, were speeding victory."

"The Russian people, because they live next door to the enemy, have had to take, so far, more than we have."

"Remote as we, here, are from the battlefields, we should be able to give, or to lend more, by buying War Bonds."

Lt. Col. Roosevelt Home On Furlough

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Lt. Col. James Roosevelt of the U. S. Marines and son of the president, was paying a brief visit to the White House, after returning from two months service in the Aleutians.

Col. Roosevelt, who was with the U. S.-Canadian amphibious forces that landed at Kiska, arrived in Washington by plane. He jokingly said he would stay at the executive mansion "if I can get a room."

Asked whether his father would seek a fourth term, Col. Roosevelt laughed and said: "Why don't you ask him? You see him every day. I haven't seen him for months."

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24, TO BE LAYMEN'S DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—It will be Laymen's Day in the Nation's churches on Sunday, October 24.

On that day, designated Laymen's Sunday, business men, labor leaders and men in uniform will deliver the sermons and conduct the church services. Wallace C. Spear, treasurer of the Laymen's Movement for a Christian World, reported.

"REGULAR". AGAIN AFTER 2 WEEKS!

"Cereal Brought Relief from Long Siege of Purgatives!"

Here's a sincere, unsolicited letter every disappointed "doser" will want to read:

"I was a sufferer from common constipation. Took pills or medicines of some kind, but got no lasting relief. Finally, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Have been eating it about 2 weeks now, and have stopped taking pills and things. My bowels move regularly every day. I am a KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN eater from now on!" Mr. Burl Brown, Warren, Ark.

How do scientists explain KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN's gentle-acting, amazing relief, so familiar to thousands? Simply this: Lack of certain cellulose elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's richest sources of these elements—which help the intestinal flora lighten and fluff up the contents of the colon, for easy, natural elimination. ALL-BRAN does not "sweep you out." Not a purgative. It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If this is your trouble eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if it doesn't give you the relief you've dreamed of. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

WAR HERO RETURNS—

Into the arms of Lieut. Col. Robert Moore, soldier-hero of Southwest Iowa, ran his seven-year-old daughter, when he returned after an absence of 16 months. His wife, sobbing with joy looks on. His nephew anxiously waits for his hug.

"DID THIS PICTURE MAKE YOU CRY?"

FEW war photographs have touched the heart of America as deeply as this family group, happily reunited. Most of us who saw it were thinking of someone dear to us in our country's service.

In their behalf today comes an urgent call. The next step in this war is literally up to you and millions of patriotic Americans like you.

Perhaps you do not realize how important you are but the success of the 3rd War Loan depends on this: small bonds in millions of hands rather than big bonds in the hands of a few are vital to the continued progress of the war effort. Only on such a broad basis does our national security rest soundly.

We, the people, must see it through, each of us who has family or friend in the fight, each of us whose thoughts are with American boys in the service must recognize our individual obligation in this new War Loan. No matter what you have done, no matter what you are doing, your extra bond insures the success of the 3rd War Loan.

Your extra bond is not only money safely put away for the future, but it's fighting money right now.

"Back The Attack! Buy an Extra Bond Today!"

WONDER WHAT THE BOY WITH HIS HEAD IN HIS ARMS IS THINKING ABOUT?

Another war photo that clutched at the heart of all who saw it. Those boys are as much a part of us as if they were our own sons. They were the first Paratroopers to drop on Sicily. Thoughts of home and family and dear ones must have come to them as they waited for the signal. Then darkness and the unknown lay ahead of them. They did not hesitate. May each of us honor them now when our country asks us to "Back The Attack"—Buy a War Bond in the 3rd War Loan!

Sardinia's Fall Deflates Nazis

Loss Of Italian Navy Sounded Doom Of Nazi Defense Of Island

GERMANS FORESAW BLOCKADE EFFECT

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially for International News Service)

The elimination of the Nazis from Sardinia came as a natural consequence of the surrender of the Italian fleet and is an important indication of the weakening powers of the Wehrmacht and the deflation of the inordinate bump of conceit of the German high command.

Once the threat of Italy's navy was gone, the defense of Sardinia by Axis forces became strategically impossible, but this would not have prevented the Nazis from trying to defend it had they possessed the vast resources of men and material and the unquestioning confidence in their own ability that distinguished their operations before 1942.

Defense Impossible

What made the defense of Sardinia impossible after Italy's navy threw up the sponge was that from then on the Allies could institute a close, water-tight blockade with a thick screen of small craft. This would have cut off supplies and without these, no army can fight.

All important difference between the Nazi mood today and that of a couple of years ago, is that now they see the handwriting on the wall and accept the inevitable. In 1942 or before they would have thrown all their resources into trying to beat the game.

That is what they did in all the African campaigns of Marshall, Edw. Rommel and, to a lesser extent, in the battle for Sicily. In all these operations there was a water gap in the German supply line, and according to the book, when such a gap exists and the enemy controls the sea, victory is impossible. The British navy has always controlled the Mediterranean in the present war, although in the early days of Italy's participation in the struggle her control was hotly contested by Axis air power.

Naval control loaded the dice against the Axis but the Nazis tried to beat the game with high speed ferry-craft, huge transport airplanes and other expedients. All of these failed dramatically at huge cost. And inexorable sea power, reinforced by the world's finest air support, tightened the strings of blockade until the predestined victory came about.

By the loss of Sardinia, the Nazis have been driven from the last of the four strategic positions from which they fought for the domination of the central Mediterranean.

The other three, Libya, Sicily and southern Italy already have been wrenched away. More than a hundred years ago, both Napoleon and Admiral Nelson realized that Sicily, Sardinia, South Italy and North Africa were the keys to Mediterranean control. When air power made its appearance, Gen. Douhet, prophet of the bomber, based his arguments on these positions to prove that the plane would dominate Europe's great inland sea from his time on.

The Axis thought he was right and established air bases that made "bomb alley," as British seamen called the stretch of water between Africa and Sicily—Sardinia, a horror of hazard. But the British kept on backing conservative sea power with all the air support they could get, and after an epic struggle, sea power won. The passing of Sardinia marks the end of the battle for the Mediterranean, with the ship the winner of this round of sea-air rule.

House For Action To Prevent Wars

Vote Of 360-29 Revealed On Measure For 'Appropriate International Machinery'

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—By an overwhelming margin the house declared itself on Tuesday for American participation in "appropriate international machinery" to prevent future wars.

The vote was 360 to 29. Three Democrats joined 26 Republicans in opposing the resolution.

The action came after two days of debate during which proponents hailed the declaration as a first step toward outlawing armed conflicts. A handful of opponents fought it on the ground that it would be subject to possible misinterpretation at the hands of the executive branch.

DISTRICT'S QUOTA FOR GASOLINE SAME

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22.—The petroleum administration for war said today the Pittsburgh district's quota of gasoline for civilian consumption will remain at 80 percent of estimated normal requirements.

This later figure was regarded by PAW officials as "adequate," providing conservation is diligently practiced.

The Pittsburgh district OPA, meanwhile, prepared to slash the consumption of gasoline by 1,692,599 gallons monthly by limiting the use of supplementary ration books.

Italian People In Captured Town Are Emerging

Spent Days And Nights In Wine Cellars As Battle
For Town Raged

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
(Representing the Combined United States Press)
(Distributed by International News Service)

ALTAVILLE, Sept. 20.—(Delayed)—The population of this war-battered Italian town, which had fallen to the Allies after some of the hardest fighting on the Italian mainland, emerged from their wine-cellar today.

They were bewildered and shell-shocked. Their faces bore the greenish pallor of mushrooms, they had hidden so long in cellar darkness.

Although the Allies entered Altaville yesterday, the population did not dare to come out until today, they were so shaken by criss-cross fire for nine days while Allied and German patrols battled in bayonet fighting on the floors over their heads.

I spoke in Italian to more than 50 residents of Altaville today. All agreed that at least 100 persons died from wounds. Others died from hunger, since they didn't dare venture from their cellars into constant fire from opposing lines.

Inhabitants told me that during the nine-day battle they lived on the never little they had on hand in their cellars, like cacti, pears and dried corn. A water shortage caused the most acute suffering.

Acting as interpreter for a service corps—headed by a chaplain—poking among ruined houses for dead bodies, I was informed by inhabitants that they buried their dead as best they could in the cellars while the battle was still on.

But despite the terrific shelling and rifle fire from all sides, Altaville suffered much less damage than Battipaglia. The latter town was razed by two months of bombardment. But Battipaglia residents left the town long ago whereas the population of Altaville was caught suddenly between two lines of fire and was unable to leave.

Boat Overturms; Two Are Drowned

(International News Service)
HONESDALE, Pa., Sept. 22.—Two young men were drowned Tuesday and two girls saved themselves by swimming ashore when their motorboat overturned on Lake Como.

State police reported that the victims were William Gilchrist, 30, and Alfred Butler, 15. Gilchrist and the two girls swam to shore. Butler was unable to make it, however, and Gilchrist was drowned also when he went to his aid.

The body of Gilchrist, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gilchrist, operate a hotel at the lake, was recovered and a search was underway for that of young Butler. Butler's parents are employed at the hotel. They formerly lived in Florida.

Newspapers Are Number 1 Choice

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 22.—State Library Director Alfred Keating revealed today that newspapers are still the number one choice of reading matter for Pennsylvanians.

Second choice, he said, is literature on technical subjects, including aviation, ship building, radio and navigation. Eyewitness accounts by newspaper and press association correspondents in far-flung battle fronts also are in heavy demand, he added.

UNUSUAL VACATION

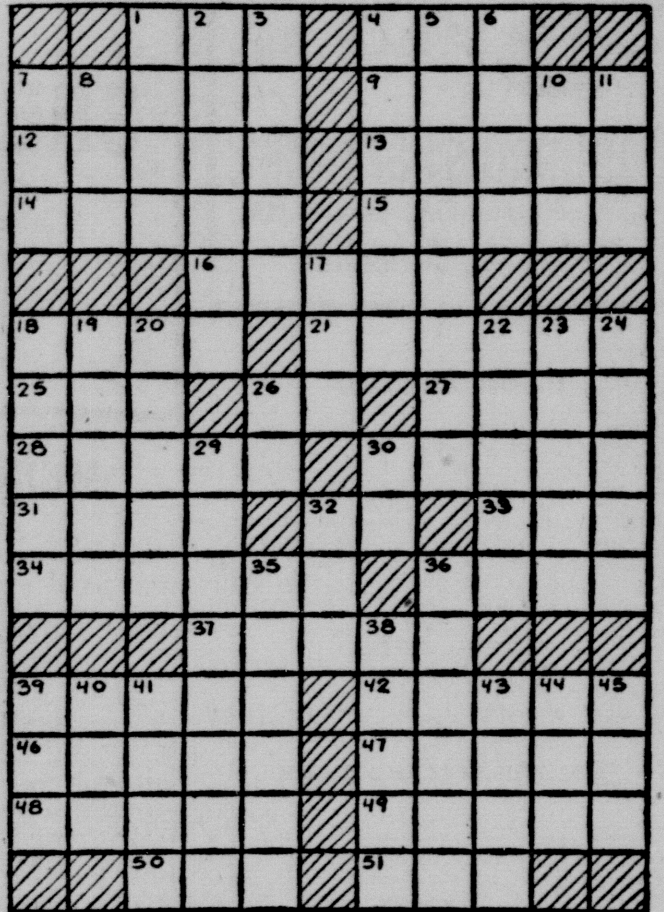

(International News Service)

May Continue OCD After War

(International News Service)
OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 22.—Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant III, of the office of Civilian Defense, today foresaw a possibility that the OCD may be continued in peacetime.
"The OCD already has functioned well in emergencies of such nature that they might have happened in peacetime," Gen. Grant said.
He cited OCD activities in Boston's Coconut Grove fire, plane crashes and railroad wrecks, and said:
"OCD is something each community has that it won't want to do away with."

CONTROL CENTERS WILL HAVE MONTHLY DRILLS
HARRISBURG, Sept. 22.—The State Council of Defense has announced that state-wide exercises for the staffs of Civilian Defense Control Centers will be held once each month, beginning in October, instead of twice monthly, as heretofore.

The new schedule, calling for drills on the 15th day of the month, regardless of the day of the week upon which this may fall, is designed to have more time for county staffs to hold special drills of their own. For the state-wide drills, detailed exercises are sent out in advance to each county by the State Control Center.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers
Are Outlined Here

Park Avenue Auxiliary Firemen will hold their regular meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Park avenue fire station.
OCD class will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Lincoln-Garfield school. Ann Hitchen is the instructor. The class is for wardens and fire guards only.

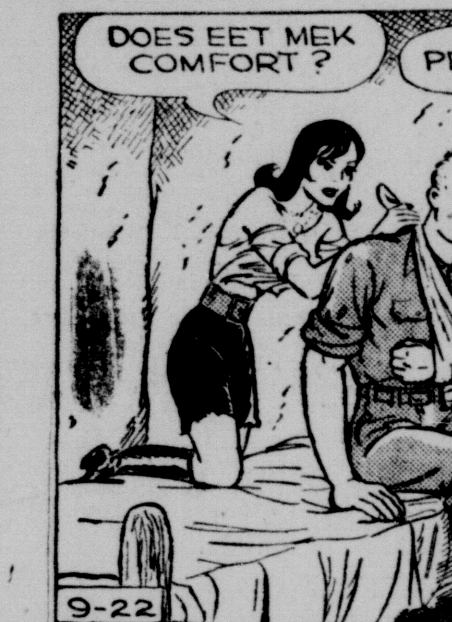

A special meeting has been called for 7:30 p. m. Thursday at Post headquarters, Seventh ward, for the first, third and fourth precincts. All members are urged to attend. Frank Sargent, co-ordinator, will be present. He will have important information for the group.

Attention of group leaders and property officers of the auxiliary fire companies is called to the fact that their 24 foot ladders are at City warehouse, awaiting delivery. They will be delivered upon request. After hearing some of the reports from the last day-light alert, the OCD is again calling to the attention of wardens and auxiliary police that an armband and card does not permit any person to operate an automobile during time of the red signal, nor permit any person to work in your sector unless he has both an armband and card. The automobile must be equipped with a regulations OCD pennant. Without this he cannot travel regardless who the operator may be. The pedestrian, in order to be on a street, must have an armband and a card; one without the other, is of no use.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

A call from the USO Center for cakes . . . A large crowd of soldiers and sailors are expected this coming week-end and those housewives who want to help entertain the boys are asked to donate a cake. Deliver your cake Saturday morning please . . . any kind and any size. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated by the committee in charge and the boys who will consume your cake Saturday evening.

Some people are low down and others are really low down . . . One of the lowest down tricks that we have heard about lately happened last Saturday evening on the East Side of town . . . Up at the corner of Adams and East Washington street you will find a very nice honor roll . . . beautifully built and landscaped. At night small spot lights play it up and really it's a touching sight . . . Well, Saturday night someone or a group decided they needed the lights worse than the Honor Roll did . . . so both spotlights were torn loose from the bench holding it . . . Spotlights are difficult to get and a priority is needed. Can you think of a lower trick . . . the ones or one who did this trick we hope will be caught . . . and put on exhibition on the public square . . . he rates right along with the person who stole from Victory Gardens this past summer . . . they are not worthy to be called American Citizens.

You have but one week and a day to buy bonds so that they will count in the month of September Bond Drive . . . There shouldn't be any need for all this talk about your buying War Bonds . . . if you are afraid to buy them just tell us . . . what will be worth anything if Government Bonds are no good? And besides you get a better interest from these Bonds than from many other investments . . . If the government were to sell stock in an Oil Company most everyone would just about break their neck to get to the limit . . . and then push it over and forget the limit. Every bank . . . most department stores sell Bonds!

MIXED OPENING IN STOCK MARKET

Renewed Selling Enters Market And Has Some Effect On Prices

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Renewed selling entered the market today after a mixed opening extending yesterday's slight losses. Air transports—a prominent "peace" group—were the principal sufferers, losing a point.

United Air Lines, American Air Lines, and Pan-American Air-Ways all declined a point or more. Aviation manufacturing issues however, were steady with fractional gains outnumbering losses.

Having fractional losses were the coppers, farm equipments, mail orders, motors, rails, rubbers and steels. Spiegel in the mail orders opened at a new 1943 high but fell back to last night's close in later trading.

Communications held steady as did foods and amusements. Oils eased fractionally.

Softball League Players Honored At Fine Banquet

Frankie Frisch, William Benswanger, Sam Rice Of Pirates Are Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 22—One of the finest banquets ever held here was today's report of the first annual banquet held last night at the Moose lodge in honor of the Industrial Softball League players.

The tried chicken dinner was tendered the players by the Manufacturers Division of the Chamber of Commerce league sponsors. About 155 members and guests attended with the dinner being prepared by Tony Tino and his aides.

Honored guests were: Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; William Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Baseball club, and Sam Rice, in charge of the farm system of the Pittsburgh club.

Frisch held the group spellbound as he told incidents of his teams and players, and conducted a question period. Benswanger said that baseball remains the national pastime because he receives hundreds of letters from boys in service all over the world asking about players and teams. Functioning of the farm system was outlined by Rice.

Emil Lelenko, talented impersonator, delighted the group with his "one man" show.

R. J. Schill was master of ceremonies and presented the following industrial leaders: F. E. Moore, W. L. Dean and Joe Eckert, of the Matthews company; D. A. Evans and William Snowden, of the Ellwood and Ellwood City Forge companies; Harry Hudson, E. R. Downing and S. E. Elder, of the National Tube company.

Also introduced were the arbitrators, Harold Marshall, David J. Jones and J. N. Latiano; implore, George Liposky; and the following Shelby Social club directors: Clarence McDonald, Horace Abbotichio, Martin Kovach, Wallace Eppenheimer, George Patterson and S. E. Elder.

George Patterson, president of the league, presented the winners. The Ellwood Forge team, with a beautiful red, white and blue pennant and goaseballs to the individual players.

National Tube company team one players, the runners-up, were presented with silver baseballs.

Teams in the league were Ellwood Forge, National Tube One and Two, United Tube, Aetna Standard and Matthews Conveyor.

After a social hour, the hostess and her aides, Mrs. Walter LeFevre and Mrs. M. K. Smith, served dainty refreshments.

On Tuesday, October 19, the Guild will meet with Mrs. James Croft, Ewing Park.

Garden Guild Opens Season

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 22—Garden Guild meetings were resumed Tuesday afternoon when members were welcomed at the home of Mrs. James McLaughlin, Dover Lane.

The program was a most interesting talk by Mrs. Charles Carbeau on her recent trip to the Pacific coast. Many attractive arrangements of fruits and vegetables were displayed by members with the award going to the victory garden arrangement of the president, Mrs. Harry Eiselein.

After a social hour, the hostess and her aides, Mrs. Walter LeFevre and Mrs. M. K. Smith, served dainty refreshments.

On Tuesday, October 19, the Guild will meet with Mrs. James Croft, Ewing Park.

Auxiliary Buys Many War Bonds

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 22—The auxiliary of the Ellwood fire department will buy $400 worth of bonds during the present drive, it was decided at the regular meeting last night at the fire station. This brings to $1,000 the total bonds purchased in the past year by the group.

Mrs. Clarence Shaffer was in charge and named Mrs. Carl King and Mrs. John Duffy as delegates to the Western Auxiliary. Mrs. Arthur Duncan and Mrs. Robert Edwards are alternate delegates.

Mrs. Charles Rabberman won the prize for bridge, and the bingo awards went to Mrs. Duffy, Mrs. Lester Anderson and Mrs. Albert Starr. Mrs. Charles Orr and Mrs. Earl Mowery served appealing refreshments.

Hostesses for the October meeting will be Mrs. Jack Prosser and Mrs. A. W. Richards.

Reformed Groups Meet At Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 22—Plans for the observance of Communion on Sunday, October 3, were made by the Consistory of the Immanuel Reformed church last night. Charles Metz and Norman Pack will assist the pastor in the service.

LIONS HEAR ABOUT POWDERED METAL

New Development In Metal Industry Explained By William Strawbridge

William Strawbridge, development engineer of the Johnson Bronze company, led Lions Club members through the interesting intricacies of powdered metallurgy, and amazed them with developments in this new field, when he addressed them at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Tuesday.

He explained how the ancients had produced iron from ore, without modern smelting processes by heating metal to a stage below the melting point, and then pounding the impurities out of it, until a usable metal was produced. The ancient Incas also produced platinum by the same method.

He explained that with powdered metal, many things can be produced without melting the metal which cannot be wrought in the molten stage. Electric light filament wire, is one article which can be produced only in this way, and tungsten-carbide steel for tool steel originates in the powdered form, and although it becomes heated to 1,200 degrees in use, it still retains all its hardness.

He told how clutch discs for the giant bombers, which heat to 1,200 degrees in eight seconds, are manufactured from powdered metal.

He explained how powdered metal is placed in a die in the manufacture of bearings, which is the Johnson company, and shaped under pressure. The metal is then heat treated, and although it is hard and will stand rough usage, is 30 per cent porous. It can then be impregnated with oil, and will retain enough of this oil to last through the lifetime of the bearing. This is especially valuable in some types of machinery such as electric washers, sweepers, shavers, etc., the bearing lasting the lifetime of the machine without any further oil being added.

Powdered metal is also widely used in the manufacture of parts, and the cost of production is tremendously lower than by machining.

He showed one bearing, of intricate design, which he stated, would cost in the neighborhood of $6 to $7 to produce by machining a piece of metal, but by compressing the powdered metal into a die, can be produced for almost one-tenth of this cost.

Mr. Strawbridge then exhibited a number of articles of various kinds, made at the local plant, ranging in size from that of a tiny bearing one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, to larger pieces, and of various shapes and usages.

He explained how bearings were made from a strip of steel, coated with powdered metal, with an oil groove machined into it, and then pressed into a tube of the required size.

Many other uses for powdered metal were enumerated. He stated that after the war is over, and the pressure of war business had been relieved, that the field would be developed considerably, because metallurgical engineers were only scratching the surface.

The meeting was filled with other interesting moments. G. Earl Williams, 1942 golf champion, who earned the title by nosing out Glenn McCracken, was presented with the Lions trophy by Henry Broad. The title was wrested from President Art Meek, who had held the honor for the past two years.

The total of the Lions bond selling effort was announced, the four teams captained by G. Earl Williams, A. R. Borland, Harry Helmick, and James G. Leslie, having turned in a total of $275,243.75 to date, only a few thousand dollars short of the second war loan effort.

Guests included, First Lt. Philip A. Phelps, Field Artillery, who is stationed at Camp Maxey, Texas; A. M. Hyde, and W. A. Donkin.

First Business Of Governor Is To Win Victory

(International News Service)
LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 21—The first business of the governors of the 48 states, as well as other Americans, is to win the war.

That was the consensus of members of the executive committee of the governors' conference who went to Omaha to attend the American Legion convention yesterday.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, often mentioned as 1944 GOP presidential possibility, denied there were any politics in the Lincoln conference.

"If we are to preserve America, we must make the country worth what the soldiers are fighting for and bring back the spirit of private enterprise," Bricker said.

COUGHIN'—COFFIN
The sick man came in with a hackin' and a cough.

He went out with a coffin and a hack.

A cough is an indication that there is something wrong. The cause may be trifling or it may be very serious.

There may be a slight irritation in the throat which can be easily remedied.

There may be disease of the lungs which is very serious.

If the least speck of blood is coughed up the doctor should be consulted at once.

A cough may mean tuberculosis. It is not wise to take a chance.

If tuberculosis is found early and properly treated, the chances are good.

If allowed to go on a long time the chances are poor.

Other people are exposed to the disease too.

With modern methods, the doctor can find tuberculosis in its very early stages.

Keep away from coughin' and coffin.
